"It makes a good deal of difference," said Mr. Moody, in the Chicago noon prayer-meeting, "whe eer you take hold of tool, or whether God takes hold of you. My little girl to-day refused to let me take hold of her hand when we were walking together. She thought she could go atone. But when we came to a place that was sippercy she took hold, first of my little fuger, and then as it goew more tey, of my whole hand. As we went on, and as it was growing worse, she let go entirely and said. "Papa_take hold of me, "sie saw I was strong and that she could not fall untess I tell. "Now," said he, I have been slipping, yes slipping for the past eleven years, and the reason is, that I have not put my hands into the hand of God. I have been trying to take hold of Him, but not asking Him to take hold of me. As long as he has bold of my hand I can't fall. If our hands are placed in His, whose throne is in heaven, we can not fail down into heit."

I did not purchase for my bride Rich jeweled rings and costly fans, But what I thought would be her pride— A set complete of pots and pans. I would not win sweet Jennie's love By golden gifts of magic power; If she a proper wife should prove She would prefer some sacks of flour.

I did not play with Jennie's heart, Nor try to fix it were it fickel; But sent, mistrusting modern art, A side of pork for her to pickle.

I did not give her rubies red To lend her raven hair relief, But what would charm when we were wed A good supply of potted beef. I did not wanton with her love, That pined to nestle on my brast, Just like a drooping, tired dive, But sent a couch where it could rest.

I did not, when the moon was bright, Take Jennie out for tranquit walks, But took her—what would more delight-A dozen each of knives and forks. I did not send her flowers bright, Whose brightness, sh, so quickly But sent her, in the darkest night, A set of sheets and counterpanes.
